FOR THE RECOTDER.

Willing as far as my limited abilities will permit, to gratify the request of your correspondent "Catholicus" I ad. dress you the present communication. The Excommunication, which is the sub service of the year eighteen hundred and ject of Catholicus's enquiries is laid to be no more or less than a literal copy of the bitter curses of Dr Slop vented to freely upon poor Obadiah, and which drew forth so many sighe and expressions from my Uncle Toby -- I have not compared it with that master piece of anthe free to declare, if the Excommunication in question did not actually issue from the pen or authority of the Bishop or his supe rior, the Pope, the Editor who so flegrant ly imposed upon the public, and particula ly upon the Catholic Church by introduc ing it into the columns of a Newspaper richly deserves not only the severest penalties of the law, but the execuation of every hones man. That I do not sporove of the particular doctrines of any church log years, gradually developes itself to or churches will not justify my unlimited callon of false documents to lessen them in the public estimation. All are in the hards of a just and merciful God.

> I notwithstanding think it singular that some one among the many intelligent mem bers which the Catholic Church possesses in this country has not proclaimed to the dearing word. When amusement ceases world this imposition of the Editor, if it be one-as a circumstance so essectiaily elfeering their reputation.

> But to Catholicus-Excommunications if we are to credit Historians in and out of he Church have been common for age, and the writer of the present article has in his possession one, termed "the Pope's doubt true, indeed some writers have Curse, Bell, Book and Candle," issued in maintained that it is only a name. Bu 758 at Rome, and which for, severily language fells little if any short of Dr. Slop, but unless particularly wished for by Catholicus deems it unnecessary to trouble the public with the perusal of it.

WASHINGTON, May 7. THE GRAND NAVAL I XPERIMENT.

At the appointed hour yesterd y morn. ing, all the arrangements having teen completed, the experiment was comment. d which was to test the practicability of hauling up, on an inclined plane, upon the plan invented by Commodore R dger a arge ship of war. The new frigate Por TOMAO, of the class of 44 guns, and weight ing, with the apparatus attached to her, about 1600 tons, was the ship with which this interesting and important experiment was to be tried .- Though a light wind prevailed, the ship was in roduced without accident between the ways on which she was to ascend, and at 9 o'clock the power of three windlesses, worked by 40 or 59 nen each, was applied to the immense doating castle, and she began slowly to me end. The operation was continued sucessfully, until the ship was drawn almost out of the water. At this moment, the iashing which connected the block of the centre purchase with the large cable that assed around the ship, fore and affect drew her on, parted. This accident, hore ver, had been guarded against, and mesny aken, in case of such an occurrence, te prevent the ship from running back. The vessel, therefore, remained firm in her place; but, as it required some hours to repair the damage, the remainder of the operation was defered until his morninge The experiment has, so far, answered the expections of its friends, and we believe here is no doubt enter ained of its complete success. Should their hopes be realized, the invention will be of incalcuable advantage to all maritime cations, as it will enable them to preserve a naval ford of any magnitude, always in readiness for the time of war, without the expense and deterioration which necessarily attend the keeping a greater portion affoat, than mil be requisite for a time of peace.

A large concourse of citizens attended to witness this interesting speciacle; of we are surry to add that a young sond Col. William Brent had his leg broke? the falling cable, when it gave way.

POETRY.

The following lines were written in church yard by HERBERT KNOWLES, of Richmond, (Yo k hire, Eng) who died at the age of 19 years. The subject is a very trice one; but the author bas treated it in an originat and striking manner, though with something of the quaintness of the old poets. The lines have been quoted in the London Quar serly Review, as an extraordinary specimen of precocious talent and vigorous

NEW YORK, April 2, 1822. Mr. Editor - Will you take the truble to give me, hro' your paper, your impartial opinion on the subject of matrimony? I am one who have to work daily for my sub istence -I have no fortune, except industry and economy t and the girls seem so fond of balls, parties and dress, that a wife don't appear likely to promote either of those necessary virtues. I have almost (tho' I have the idea) concluded to live an old bachelor; indeed it appears to me that ruin or poverty are almost inseperably connecied with the marriages or all those who are not blessed with weal h, and frequently with those that are. Not being blessed with an education not even so much as home, and thus it goes the rounds of the grammer, and having but little time to neighborhood.

WOMAN.

A Persian poet takes the following mon strously ungaliant liberty with the far sex "When thou art married, seck to floase thy wife; but listen not to all she says. From man's right side a rib was taken !. form the woman, and never was there stell a rib quite straight, and wouldst thou straighten it? It breaks, but bends not since then 'tis plain that crooked is weman's temper, forgive her faults, and blam her not; nor let them anger thee, an coercion use, as all is vain to straighter what is curved."

VROM THE MATIONAL GAERTER.

Although the science of medic ne has arrived at such perfection as to enable its professors to decide regarding the nature of disease, and the most proper means for its removal, yet there are some cases, pro. bably depending on constitutional idiosyncrasy, which frequently resist all the known emedica. Scrolula and Syphilis are among hese; they frequently take on peculiar and horrible forms in their latter stages. producing pains, ulcers, and a train of evile, which continue to increase in despite of all the known remedies.

The following facts, however, show that And none but the worm is a traveller a remedy for these diseases, in their worforms, is within the reach of our practitioners. At the lesture delivered on the 14 h inst. at the University of Pennsylva. nian, by professor Gibson, two patients were exhibited who had been afflic ed wi h deers ion in its most frightful form for seeral years : the throat, lips, and nose, as well as the bones and soft paris of the face, vere partly distroyed in both patients : and a one, an eye was entirely lest. The sarned Professor, in the course of his lecure, stated the cases of their patients; hat they had been treated in the usual way without success; that they were finalis restored to perfect health by the use of a medicine recently introduced in this city. snown by the name of Swaln's PANACKA.

> I deem this communication a just tribute to the virtues of a medicine which I think bids fair to be the means of relieving a great deal of human suffering. The remedy which a learned and respectable Professor has thought worthy of a particu ar notice before a numerous class of stuients, would seem to have claims to the attention of every professor of the healing

Berreming Newspapers -From the com plaints in the newspapers, it would's em that this unhandsome practice is becoming every day more fashionable. There are few little vexations in life more analying than to have " Mrs. Troublesom's compliments" close upon the heels of the news carrier, with a request " that Mr. Sepuble. would farour her wish the cvening's paper." A request so small cannot be relused without giving offence; and the consequence is, that any person who take papers are obliged to defer reading them until their neighbours have all satisfied their curiosi ty a for Mrs. Troublesom has no seems done with the paper, than Mr. Meddlesone stands ready to intercept it on its wa

You are not to be instructed, that in the Southern coun ry a good practical system of farming this season with increased severity dea carcely any where obtains Our planting troying in the proportion of one half or the i conducted generally upon loose and un- thirds. Your own seed imported is equal ettled principles, and this will probably ly liable to take i. The Alabama seed be the state of our agriculture, until a dense and more stationary population shall not so great; the quality is, however, is give an augmented value to our lands, and pressed in the market about 2 cents being make it cheaper for the farmer to improve our own green seed. The Black Stadio old than to purchase now. The modes Sea-Island is not affected by it; and from which prevail have nevertheless their de. a field of mine last year, at the distance of ferent. It is certain that land for cotton, as for every other seed, ought to be well prepared that ploughing and harrowing, and in soils admitting it, by deep plough ng. The minute division of soil, and to a considerable depth, is particularly important-and it is so from the nature of the cotton plant. Besides the germination of the seed requiring every facility of access to be given to air and moisture,he long taproot descending perpendicularly should descend unobstructed. The areral roots, which are at first small and delicate, should be permitted to search! heir way in the finely divided mould with ase and freedom.

The soil being thus prepared, it is laid ff in beds or ridges, either with the hoe or plough-3 or 4 farrows thrown tegeth er with a small bar share is a good modethe distance between the beds depends upon the fertility of the land; and it va ries from 3 to 6 feet :- In very good land at the distance of 6, the branches will interlock in ordinary seasons. The bed being prepared, open them in the central with an instrument like a colter and droj the seed-to guard against accidents, we tow very thick-the covering should be

The cotton is up-in its infancy alway sickly and ricket y, it soon begins to droop and die, and the Planter, who never look. at his crop with pleasure, is afraid that the survivors of these puny seedlings will hourly disappear. The peling storm forces it from its bed-the gentle frost nips its tender leaf. and the influence of the eastern gole blasts it. The number of plante, however, is his security; and at the end of 4 or 5 weeks the roots beginning to fix themselves tirmly and the third les to shoo, the cotton is thought to be out o danger, and the hopes of the Planter re vive. This appearance is not every where the sam -it has always seemed to me i be better or worse as the soil was better o worse cultivated. The root of the young plant are too delicate to overcome the obstructions et her of coherence and tenaci . of soil, or others ; and they perish and of course the plant with them. In this dubions interval, the Planter runs his plough and kills the young grass as it springs and he can do little more. But now the plant is daily growing stronger, and as soon as it acquires its 5th or 6th leaf, be begins to cut out with the hoe, leaving a half dosen or more stalks in a hill, and separating the hills by a distance of a too: or so. When this operation is completed throughout the crop, he can venture to thin by the hand; and then he reduces the number of stalks in a hill to 3 or 4. It is a good practice to throw a little earth to the foretaste of the blessings of futurity. cotton in cutting out-but in thinning by he hand, it is indispensable : and and offer this time, when your crop is worked, give it earth :- if, in a grassy season, you are obliged to take away-restore it finmediate ly :- never give it, bowever, in excessive wet or excessive drought, for in either the phetic ken, to the regions of eterni " leaves and forms fall off.

The first thinning by the hand has left 3 or 4 stalks, and these about one foot apart ! you run over the crop afterwards and raduce them to one or two, always, as is distance between the beds, consulting fertility of soil. Varieties of practice obtain in this respect a We have respectable advocates of either. I advise you to be governed by your own judgment, which will realize as much to you as the best of others-it is only necessary to avoid extremes. Take care in working your cotton to regulate your operations by the stage of its growth, that you may interfere as little as possible with the horizontal roots-it is the ramification of these which contributes to the ramification of the trunk or stem, and these are multiplied by successive accumulations of earth on the former. Thus you cominue to work the crop. until the gracey season having passed, it is charged,
